Vain Regrets! How to protect your heirs against mis-investment!

SOME years ago "Mr. B" died. His will established 4 trust funds of about $300,000 each. One friend was named as trustee for all of the beneficiaries.

The subject of how to invest these large sums naturally came up for consideration. The trustee invested practically the whole of the $1,200,000 in bonds of a class representing but one form of industrial effort.

For a time all seemed to go well. The income returned to the beneficiaries was satisfactory. They made no inquiry into the continued soundness of their principal.

Then the individual trustee died. The Court appointed the Columbia Trust Company as substitute trustee. An accounting of the securities comprising the trusts was made. This accounting—the first ever rendered—brought to light the fact that the securities were illegal as investments for trustees.

The law made their sale necessary. In the meantime underlying conditions throughout the one single industry behind all of the bonds had greatly depreciated their value.

But, as we said, the law dictated an immediate sale. Result: A heavy loss of principal. A futile crop of vain regrets.

FEAR WE'LL HEED GERMANS' APPEAL

French See Danger of Radical Yielding to Their Counter-proposals.

SEMI-OFFICIAL CRITICISM

Foreign Office Member Hints That Our Delegates Are "Frightened by German Sophistries."

By CHARLES A. SELDEN. Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

PARIS, May 31.—One way of looking at the German counter-proposals in French official quarters is that without their merits being considered at all they should be disregarded as a violation of the rules laid down for the German delegates when they received the allied peace terms at Versailles.

"The German delegates," a member of the French Foreign Office told me today, "have gone far outside the limits set for them in making the allied peace terms at Versailles. They have gone to the point of suggesting amendments which would be discussed only in writing."

"It would be only absurd if there were not an apparent inclination in some American quarters to take these counter-proposals seriously, as something worthy of examination. German propaganda, which we supposed had lost its capacity to deceive anybody, still seems effective with some Americans, who now think we should re-examine the very foundations of the entire peace."

"They are frightened by German sophistries and attempts to misinterpret Wilson's Fourteen Points. Such Americans seem to get that there is one point which they know more about than the other three, and that man is Wilson himself. But he was a party to the making of the treaty given the Germans at Versailles. He would not have been had he not signed the document."

"It is difficult to have this element of doubt injected into the situation at this time, for we know the German proposals in detail on our terms. It is a fact that Erzberger, the German plenipotentiary, has proposed amendments to the terms of the peace, and that the French plenipotentiaries, who are now in Paris, would not tolerate it being made public."

"There is another possible solution of the peace making which has been tentatively considered and even advocated by the fighting side, by which we would make peace with the separate German States—Bavaria, Baden, Westphalia, Hanover, etc. Why not? They were put together as the German Empire at Versailles in 1917; why not put them apart at Versailles in 1919? Ever since 1871 Bavaria has maintained by constitution her rights of separate legislation. There was a Bavarian Minister in Paris up to the beginning of the present war. In each of these separate German States there is a considerable element which distrusts and fears Prussia. It is easily conceivable that a separate peace proposition could be made advantageous to each of them. Each would be compelled to say what we considered the share of war reparation, but it would be less than the proportion Prussia will take to pay under the general peace settlement by the German Empire as a whole. After separate settlements with the various lesser German States we would collect the balance due on the total from Prussia."

"The 22,000,000,000 francs which Germany proposes to pay in a lump sum of 200,000,000,000 francs, if she is compelled to pay about double that, as demanded, the tax on her people will still be less per capita than in the past. Her apparent distress and anxiety are nothing more than what was expected. It is simply a matter of time and money. The French plenipotentiaries were quite reconciled to the terms of the peace, and despite what the French plenipotentiaries say, the French plenipotentiaries would not tolerate it being made public."

French Eyes on Wilson Now. May 30.—The interest of the French Government is now centered on reports of what President Wilson may do rather than on the question of Germany signing the peace treaty. The Government followed on several points to the views of Premier Clemenceau, for the sake of harmony in the conference. The fear of the French is that the Germans will take the opportunity of Germany's counter-proposals to insist on their terms to make the terms of the peace more favorable to them. Notably in the case of the Silesian boundary and the question of admitting Germany to the League of Nations immediately. The Germans assert that with the loss of both the Sarre Valley and Silesian coal fields they will not produce enough for their own needs, because the production of the Westphalian mines is not sufficient for the whole country. They want to retain the coal territory of Silesia, or at least have some guarantee of the privilege of getting coal there on easy terms. The Americans are supposed to feel there is some justice in this demand. It is to be fought bitterly in the conference by France and Poland, and the delay ahead of us than was looked for in the twenty-four hours ago. French Feeling Toward Austria. It is letting Germany into the League of Nations, that is another matter. It is proposed that she be taken in at the end of one year, or even at the beginning of the League scheduled to be held in Washington in the coming Autumn. Of course, this means that Austria would come in automatically at the same time—perhaps before, because, so far as the French attitude is concerned, she is feeling today toward Austria as almost that of a friend as compared with Germany. When I asked a member of the French Foreign Office today what he thought of letting Germany into the League of Nations now he replied ironically: "Oh, bring them in! Bring them in! It will be one advantage to have them in close touch with President Wilson, so that he can really find out what they are, as we know them."

It will be one advantage to have them in close touch with President Wilson, so that he can really find out what they are, as we know them."

Loathing Fell for Germany. Continuing more seriously he said: "If we French as individuals did not hate and loathe the Germans as individuals I should see no objection to admitting them to the League, because I think it would be immaterial, neither good nor bad. But it is impossible for the French to feel toward them as one people can feel toward a former enemy after clean, civilized warfare. We can not feel toward them as toward the Austrians. France would not object to Austria's coming into the league the minute she signed the peace treaty. "Perhaps for the sake of harmony we would not object to the bitter end against Germany coming in after a year, for, as I say, it could do neither harm nor good."

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN. Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES. PARIS, May 31.—There have been threatening signs that the smaller nationalities in the Peace Conference would show vigorous resentment at the domination of the Big Four—Wilson, Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Orlando—in undertaking to adjust the affairs of the world; but it was not until the session of all the delegations was held behind closed doors this afternoon that the lesser nations voiced their indignation. The session was held for the purpose of giving the smaller nationalities which have been at war with Austria-Hungary an opportunity to discuss the Austrian treaty conditions drafted by the Big Four. A plenary session for the same purpose had been set for Thursday, but it ended in ten minutes after Bratianu, the Rumanian Premier, refused to discuss the treaty until he and other representatives of the Balkans had had an opportunity to examine it in detail. Between Thursday and today the indignation of these representatives has been smoldering. It burst into flame when the secret plenary session began this afternoon. The main complaint by the delegates of the smaller Eastern European nations was directed to the provisions of the Austrian treaty to establish religious, racial and linguistic freedom in all countries affected by the treaty. Bratianu led the fight, seconded by Trumbich for the Yugoslavs. The Czechoslovak representative joined them, and Venetelos for Greece gave them mild support. The representatives of the Balkan countries charged that these provisions were an infringement of their sovereignty, in that outside Powers obtained a measure of control over the peoples of the Balkans.

Acquies Wilson of Breach of Faith. By RICHARD V. OULAHAN. Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES. PARIS, May 30.—Throughout their final memorandum on the Peace Treaty Brockdorff-Rantzau and his fellow plenipotentiaries lay stress on the allegation that the allied terms are inconsistent with President Wilson's Fourteen Points, and his utterances on the subject of peace. The memorandum contains many extracts from the President's notes and addresses, all designed to show that the allied statesmen have not lived up to their promises in imposing peace conditions on Germany. It is apparent that the German delegates wish to create the impression that the allied plenipotentiaries, and particularly President Wilson, have been guilty of a breach of faith.

What effect this memorandum is likely to have on the Big Four when they come to consider it in detail cannot be forecast, but there is no denying that a very strong sentiment exists among the smaller delegations in favor of modifying some of the most severe conditions imposed upon Germany, particularly with regard to economic adjustments. One significant feature of the situation is that the French estimate that the provisions of the treaty which compel Germany to relinquish her merchant shipping and all her colonial possessions, are inconsistent with the principles laid down by President Wilson and accepted both by the allied powers and Germany as a basis for peace. According to the view set forth in the memorandum, these provisions create the impression that the Allies intend to ruin Germany economically for all time to come. In the opinion of American financial experts, this represents the total cost they will be called upon to turn over to the allied Governments unless the economic restrictions of the treaty are materially modified.

Another flurry was caused when the delegates of the smaller Eastern European nations objected to the financial terms of the Austrian treaty. The discussion was cut short by Louis Klots of the French delegation, who said that, as it would be impossible to include reparational conditions in that part of the treaty to be presented to the Austrians Monday the financial clauses might as well be omitted also in order to give the Council of Four further opportunity to consider them in the light of the objections raised. Serbia's representative made a protest against the northern boundaries of his country as fixed in the Austrian treaty. Complaint was made that Serbia did not get all the territory to which she was entitled, and the great powers—meaning the Big Four—were charged with violating the principles to which they had committed themselves. For a time it looked as if there would have to be further postponement of the ceremony of handing the peace treaty to the Austrian plenipotentiaries. The time originally set for the ceremony was last Friday, but the protest of the Rumanian representative at Thursday's plenary session caused a postponement until Monday. Although all that happened at this afternoon's meeting spelled delay, the Big Four decided against deferring the ceremony again, and they will endeavor to placate the Balkan representatives between now and Monday. But the Austrian treaty will be far from completed when it is handed to the Austrian plenipotentiaries. The Austrians would have been subjected to further delay if they had not complained of unfair treatment in that they were kept at St. Germain marking time. One of their specifications against the Allied charges was that the German hotel rates were very high, and they were therefore anxious to get through with the peace exchanges as soon as possible.

PREDICT VICTORY FOR THE COVENANT

Continued from Page 1, Column 4. League draft before it and has had opportunity to discuss it. I believe a way will be found to make it acceptable to the majority, if it is not already. Senator McCumber does not favor separating the League covenant from the treaty and will vote against the resolution of Senator Sherman to that effect. That resolution is now before the Foreign Relations Committee and will not be reported. It is understood, until the complete text of the treaty is before the Senate. Senator Capper, who took his seat in the ranks of the opponents of the covenant as now drafted. He is said to have informed Republican leaders, however, that rather than have the League project defeated, he would vote for it without amendments. He favors some changes and will speak for them on the floor, but if they cannot be put on the floor, he is understood to be willing to accept the covenant as it stands. Senator Spencer, it is understood, is somewhat of the same mind, although he will hold out. It is said for an amendment of Article X, regarding guarantees of the territorial integrity of nations in the League. The debate on the covenant will be resumed tomorrow when Senator Johnson will speak. He will try to obtain a vote this week on his resolution calling upon the State Department for the full text of the treaty.

SEE SOVEREIGNTY IMPAIRED

They Assert That They Are Placed in a Category of National Inferiority.

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN. Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 31.—There have been threatening signs that the smaller nationalities in the Peace Conference would show vigorous resentment at the domination of the Big Four—Wilson, Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Orlando—in undertaking to adjust the affairs of the world; but it was not until the session of all the delegations was held behind closed doors this afternoon that the lesser nations voiced their indignation. The session was held for the purpose of giving the smaller nationalities which have been at war with Austria-Hungary an opportunity to discuss the Austrian treaty conditions drafted by the Big Four. A plenary session for the same purpose had been set for Thursday, but it ended in ten minutes after Bratianu, the Rumanian Premier, refused to discuss the treaty until he and other representatives of the Balkans had had an opportunity to examine it in detail. Between Thursday and today the indignation of these representatives has been smoldering. It burst into flame when the secret plenary session began this afternoon. The main complaint by the delegates of the smaller Eastern European nations was directed to the provisions of the Austrian treaty to establish religious, racial and linguistic freedom in all countries affected by the treaty. Bratianu led the fight, seconded by Trumbich for the Yugoslavs. The Czechoslovak representative joined them, and Venetelos for Greece gave them mild support. The representatives of the Balkan countries charged that these provisions were an infringement of their sovereignty, in that outside Powers obtained a measure of control over the peoples of the Balkans.

Objections to "Outside Force." They asserted also that the treaty sought to establish an outside force to which discontented elements of the Balkan States could appeal over the heads of their own Governments. The third point of the protest was that the treaty practically established different classes of Governments, making some superior and placing others—in this case the Balkan nations—in an inferior position. The Balkan States, their representatives said, were willing to carry out the religious, racial and linguistic principles enunciated in the treaty, but they preferred to carry them out themselves, without being under outside compulsion. President Wilson made a response, in which he upheld the provisions that the smaller nations found objectionable. He and Premier Clemenceau, in stating the position of the Big Four, contended that the provisions were essential to establish an abiding and just peace. The mistreatment of minorities, they said, had been a frequent cause of war, and it was desirable to eliminate that cause. As the great Powers had made the greatest sacrifices in the world conflict, and had freed the smaller peoples, to whom they had ceded large territorial areas, the great Powers should have had a right to lay down certain fundamental principles which they believed necessary for the peace which the powers had won and intended to maintain. At the conclusion of the discussion M. Clemenceau, as President of the Peace Conference, gave assurances to the Balkan representatives that the Council of Four would take their protest into consideration. Another flurry was caused when the delegates of the smaller Eastern European nations objected to the financial terms of the Austrian treaty. The discussion was cut short by Louis Klots of the French delegation, who said that, as it would be impossible to include reparational conditions in that part of the treaty to be presented to the Austrians Monday the financial clauses might as well be omitted also in order to give the Council of Four further opportunity to consider them in the light of the objections raised.

Serbia Objects to Boundaries. Serbia's representative made a protest against the northern boundaries of his country as fixed in the Austrian treaty. Complaint was made that Serbia did not get all the territory to which she was entitled, and the great powers—meaning the Big Four—were charged with violating the principles to which they had committed themselves. For a time it looked as if there would have to be further postponement of the ceremony of handing the peace treaty to the Austrian plenipotentiaries. The time originally set for the ceremony was last Friday, but the protest of the Rumanian representative at Thursday's plenary session caused a postponement until Monday. CAN SEE NO LIMIT TO AIRPLANE'S SIZE

CONGRESS ASKED TO HELP

Urged to Provide Money for War, Navy, and Post Office Department Experiments.

Special to The New York Times. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 1.-A resolution urging Congress to grant the Army, Navy, and Post Office Department funds for experiments on airplanes capable of crossing the Atlantic without stopping was adopted by the second Pan American Aeronautic Congress at its closing session here this afternoon. The resolution followed the report presented by Henry Woodhouse.

The flight of the NC-4 has opened the way for nonstop transatlantic flights," said the report. "But it is evident that to make such voyages it will be necessary to revolutionize airplane construction."

A flyer capable of crossing from Atlantic City to Paris, for instance, will have to be three times as large as the NC-4. One of the most important features of the NC-type machines is that the lift is thirteen pounds per square foot of wing surface, whereas the maximum lift per square-foot of wing surface in airplanes heretofore has been only nine pounds to the square foot.

This can be done, although it will require a different arrangement of the wings from that now followed in airplane construction. A biplane which would do this would need a wing span of 171 feet and a chord of over twenty-eight feet. But these dimensions are unwieldy, and, any way, we are not going to stop with a machine that will lift fifty tons.

is one of the supreme joys of an air voyage. The type of multiplane will also involve problems. If it is to be a flying boat type, it must be made strong and sturdy, and at the same time not unduly heavy. If we are planning a land machine the landing gear must be proportioned to withstand the heavy loads, with a good factor of safety, and yet not offer too much air resistance in flight.

We recall that the Avron triplane at the Boston-Harvard meet, September, 1910, had the tendency to topple over at the least cause. That established a traditional prejudice against triplanes and quadruplanes. But the height of airplanes still remains, the height of airplanes increasing year by year.

The Forta triplane is over 27 feet 6 inches high; the Caproni triplane is over 19 feet high; the Gotha-Zeppelin is 21 feet high; the Handley-Page is 18 to 20 feet high; and the NC type is 19 feet high.

But there is a limit to the piling of one plane on top of another for the reason that you soon make the machine so topheavy that it is hard to fly and almost impossible to land without turning a somersault. So we have got to find some other way of arranging our extra wings if we are to have them. If we tried to build a triplane with 10,000 feet of surface it would have to be about fifty feet high, and I shouldn't like a somersault. So we have got to find some other way of arranging our extra wings if we are to have them.

But suppose we make it a quadruplane and instead of putting our four wings one above the other, we put one pair in front and another pair back of them. We can go on adding more wings at will, grouping them in sets so that we can increase the lifting surface beyond anything that is considered possible at the present time. It is up to our aeronautical engineers to work out these problems, and I prophesy that they will do it in the near future.

Congress should allow the funds necessary for the army, navy and Post Office to conduct the experiments necessary to develop these huge planes.

To the navy these large planes will be regular flying torpedo boats, carrying several full-sized Whitehead torpedoes and going at 100 miles an hour. To the army it will mean having airplanes capable of carrying 5-inch bombs and going to the Post Office it will mean delivering mail between New York and San Francisco and from the United States to England, France and Italy without stops. It is a most important development which should be supported by Congress. It will bring about commercial transportation by air on a large scale and will solve some of the most difficult problems of transportation.

AIRPLANES COLLIDE; 2 AVIATORS KILLED

Wings Touch at 1,000 Feet Over New Haven and One Plane Falls to the Ground.

OTHER MAKES SAFE LANDING

Lieut. Kelleher, Pilot of Wrecked Machine, and Corp. Katzman, the Mechanic, Died Instantly.

Special to The New York Times. NEW HAVEN, June 1.-Melvin E. Kelleher, a first lieutenant stationed at Mineola, and Corporal-Mechanic Joseph Katzman were killed here at 1 o'clock today when their airplane collided with another plane, in which Kelleher's brother was the mechanic, at 1,000 feet in the air at the start of their flight to Mineola.

The two machines and a third one had been sent over Connecticut to perform aerial feats to stimulate interest in the Signal Corps recruiting campaign, and had yesterday given an exhibition over the Yale Bowl while the Yale-Princeton baseball game was going on. Several hundred people saw the planes rise in the air from a point near the Yale Bowl. Over the village of Westville, the wings of two of the machines touching each other. One machine turned over and over and fell on the lawn of a private residence at Westville the wings of two of the machines instantly. The other machine was damaged, but succeeded in making a landing near the Yale Bowl. The two occupants of this machine were shaken up when the crippled plane reached the earth, but not seriously hurt. The pilot of this machine was Lieutenant John P. Loullot.

Coroner E. H. Mix at once started an inquest and invited Lieutenant Loullot to appear, but he declined on the ground of his military position and his obligation to report to his commanding officer before appearing in any civil proceeding. Coroner Mix insisted on his appearance at the inquest and formally served a subpoena upon him to appear at 10 o'clock this morning.

Coroner Mix has written to Colonel Miller, Commandant at Mineola, stating his position. It was stated that a previous unsuccessful attempt had been made by civil authorities in New Haven to obtain testimony from Lieutenant Loullot after his plane had been in an accident at Windsor, Conn.

Lieutenant Kelleher, who lived at Franklin, Ind., was 23 years old and had been in service about a year and a half. He was recently married. Colonel Miller, Commandant at Mineola, said that he was one of the most competent fliers at the field. He had recently taken part in a "flying circus" which was sent from Mineola to various cities in the Middle West. His wife is at Atlantic City.

Corporal Katzman lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Katzman, at 213 Hamilton Avenue, Brooklyn. He enlisted in the Aviation Corps a few weeks before the signing of the armistice and was recently made an aviator mechanic.

THREE BRITISH TEAMS NEAR TRIAL FLIGHTS

Rivals at St. John's Are Likely to Have Their Machines Ready in a Week.

Special to The New York Times. ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 1.-A trial flight by the end of this week and a get-away on the transatlantic voyage just as soon thereafter as the weather permits was the prediction made tonight by Captain John Alcock, the Vickers-Vimy bomber pilot. His hopes are based upon a careful survey of the work remaining to be done in assembling the biplane, which he is confident can be accomplished within a few days, provided the weather does not prevent construction work.

Two days of a steady downpour, during which nothing was accomplished, was succeeded tonight by clearing weather, which may continue during the few days which must elapse before the Vickers men can erect their hangar at the field selected on Lemarcant Road. Ten men are to start erecting the hangar tomorrow and twenty-five others with plows and shovels are to be set at work converting the field into an aerodrome. More men will be employed if they are needed in order to have the aerodrome ready by the time the airplane is completely assembled.

Captain Haynam, pilot of the Martinsyde, was advised today that a new Rolls-Royce engine for his craft which crashed in attempting the transatlantic start two weeks ago should be here by the end of this week, by which time he hopes to have his plane rebuilt and all ready for installing the power plant so that a week from tomorrow may see him also ready for a trial flight. The present outlook is that the Handley-Page will be ready about the same time as the Vickers, though there is not a little probability that their heavier and more complicated plane will require a little longer to get ready.

A Suggestion That May Save You Disappointment

It is possible that you may find it temporarily difficult to fill your immediate requirements for Goodyear Tires.

While many Goodyear Service Station Dealers have fairly adequate stocks on hand, many other such dealers' stocks are very low.

We publish this information that you may have a true picture of the condition, and to save you if possible from unnecessary disappointment.

We publish it also in fairness to our dealers, who are in no way responsible for the situation.

With the cessation of war and the completion of our obligations to the government we set about the immediate readjustment of our factories.

We established a production schedule on Goodyear Tires by far the heaviest we had ever attempted—last week's output, for example, averaged the enormous figure of 24,449 finished tires per day.

Notwithstanding that our present production is the largest ever attained by any tire manufacturer—there still are hardly enough Goodyear Tires to go 'round.

The popularity of Goodyear Tires and the insistent and growing demand for them exceed our present volume by a considerable margin.

A great many Goodyear users have anticipated their needs in future by placing reservation orders with Goodyear Service Station Dealers.

We suggest that you do likewise and thus assure yourself an earlier delivery of Goodyear Tires than you might otherwise be able to effect.

Such action now will protect you against any possible disappointment and avert any inconvenience this temporary shortage might occasion.

We are employing every proper means to increase our daily output to the point where Goodyear Tires will be as easy to get as they are worth while to use.

Chevrolet Special and Durant Special

Entered in today's 500 mile race, are the 300 cubic inch Stutz Special 16 valve racing cars, originally built and raced by Stutz Motor Car Company.

Below is a reproduction of a Bronze Tablet presented by the citizens of Indianapolis to the Stutz Motor Car Company in appreciation of the performances of these cars which are an Indianapolis product.

Clipping from New York Evening Telegram

The famous No. 5 Stutz racer has been sold, W. C. Durant, in California, the purchaser is R. C. Durant, son of W. C. Durant, president of one of the largest automobile corporations in the country, and that Mr. Durant has contracted with Eddie Hearne to pilot it.

It is understood that the sale of the famous racer to Mr. Durant will result in the world's champion Stutz racer being seen in the Indianapolis Liberty Sweepstakes on May 31. The racer made its debut on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in 1915.

There is a rumor that an attempt will be made to carry to victory on the radiator of the Stutz the name of a well-known medium priced automobile.

Word has just come from California that R. C. Durant, son of W. C. Durant, president of one of the largest automobile corporations in the country, has purchased the famous No. 5 Stutz racer and has contracted with Eddie Hearne as the pilot. This announcement will undoubtedly result in the return of the world's champion Stutz to the Indianapolis Liberty Sweepstakes race, May 31.

It is said by Western racing enthusiasts that this famous old car will be disguised under another name than Stutz, but it will be the same old No. 5 that made its debut on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in 1915. A little tinkle of a rumor comes hot on the heels of the announced purchase of the Stutz that an attempt will be made to carry to victory on the radiator of this car the name of a well-known medium priced automobile, but at this time this rumor has not been confirmed.

Local race officials for the 500-mile Liberty Sweepstakes, May 31, at Indianapolis, believe that Durant will enter the revamped Stutz at Indianapolis, as it has been intimated that Hearne will campaign this car over the country this season.

FAMOUS STUTZ HAS NEW OWNER

R. C. Durant Purchases Racer and Signs Up E. Hearne as Pilot.

Word has just come from California that R. C. Durant, son of W. C. Durant, president of one of the largest automobile corporations in the country, has purchased the famous No. 5 Stutz racer and has contracted with Eddie Hearne as the pilot. This announcement will undoubtedly result in the return of the world's champion Stutz to the Indianapolis Liberty Sweepstakes race May 31.

It is said by Western racing enthusiasts that this famous old car will be disguised under another name than Stutz, but it will be the same old No. 5 that made its debut on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in 1915. A little tinkle of a rumor comes hot on the heels of the announced purchase of the Stutz that an attempt will be made to carry to victory on the radiator of this car the name of a well-known, medium-priced automobile, but at this time this rumor has not been confirmed.

Local race officials for the 500-mile Liberty Sweepstakes May 31 at Indianapolis believe that Durant will enter the revamped Stutz at Indianapolis, as it has been intimated that Hearne will campaign this car over the country this season.

The Indianapolis officials, naturally, feel that a purse of $50,000 will be too tempting to Eddie and his mount to be overlooked, especially as Hearne knows the Indianapolis course about as well as any driver in the country. With such a car and with Hearne's surly-headed driving this combination of old, seasoned veterans will undoubtedly offer stiff competition for those who hope to take home the big end of the Indianapolis purse with ease.

This famous racer has been in many other events, in which it made a good account of itself, and it is claimed that it never failed to finish any race except through accident. Will No. 4 Stutz repeat at Indianapolis May 31?

SETS NATION HUNTING WORK FOR SOLDIERS

Capital, Labor, Commerce, Industry, Officialdom, and Philanthropy All Are Busy.

LED BY COL. ARTHUR WOODS

States and Communities Pledge Cooperation in Speeding the Re-absorption of Service Men.

The building up of a great employment system to speed the reabsorption of soldiers and sailors into civil life is described in a report made yesterday on the work of the Emergency Employment Committee for Soldiers and Sailors headed by Colonel Arthur Woods, former Police Commissioner of New York, under the United States Council of Defense of which Grosvenor B. Clarkson is director.

The manner in which every large public agency of employment has been invited for this purpose since the committee was organized sixty days ago is told as follows:

A telegram announcing the formation of the committee was immediately sent by the director of the council to the Governors of all States and to the Mayors of all principal cities asking the support of these officials in the work. Almost without exception every State and every community pledged its cooperation, and these pledges have been translated into actual acts which have contributed largely to the success which the work has had.

It was at once apparent that the employers of the country as a class should be invited to participate in the work. An appeal was immediately sent to all Chambers of Commerce throughout the United States by Mr. Goodwin of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Everywhere today local organizations of this kind are either co-operating with such agencies as the United States Employment Service, or the Bureau for Returning Soldiers, or creating new bureaus, refunding old ones, one way or another adding the full strength of their members to the fulfilling of the obligations of the nation to the returning army and navy. This was immediately followed by a similar appeal by the National Association of Manufacturers to its 5,000 members with a similar result.

These appeals to employers and employment managers were followed by an appeal from Mr. Woll, representing labor on the committee, to all labor organizations, to individual members of labor organizations, and to the labor press. Mr. Woll called upon his constituency to support the work of the committee and the work of the office of the Assistant to the Secretary of War, and to assist the individual discharged from the service to readjust himself to peace-time conditions. The response received by Mr. Woll demonstrates that organized labor, which fought so valiantly in support of the boys who went overseas, does not consider its work finished and proposes to finish it with the same patriotic spirit which it maintained during the war.

Through its individual members the Emergency Employment Committee has secured the support of all the machinery of the various Government departments. The Secretary Lane of the Department of the Interior instructed the 15,000 employees of the department to be on the lookout for employment possibilities and report to Colonel Woods once a week. The Department of Agriculture, the Post Office Department, the Department of Labor and the Navy Department are all assisting in the work of distributing literature. The American Red Cross, the War Camp Community Service, and the Army and Navy Commission on Training Camp Activities, realizing that this work is an important part of the work which they conducted during the war, have all made large contributions of money to pay for posters, booklets, and other publicity literature. In short, the purpose for which the committee was organized, to meet the emergency created by the rapid demobilization of the army, has been accomplished.

NEGRO SOLDIERS FIND WORK.

More Than 140 of Col. Hayward's Men Placed in Two Weeks.

More than 140 negro soldiers, most of whom served under Colonel William Hayward in France, have obtained places in the last two weeks through the Hayward Unit of the War Camp Community Service. It was announced yesterday. These jobs have ranged from actor to Pullman porter.

To fit service men for better jobs the Vocational Education Bureau of the Community Service has arranged a course of lectures. William P. Freeman will talk on "Salesmanship and Advertising" tonight at Public School 27, 212 East Forty-second Street. Other lectures will deal with the automobile industry, building industry, railroad transportation, agriculture, forestry, banking and finance, shipping and foreign trade, machinery, etc.

The free Sunday vaudeville shows for service men closed yesterday. Mabel R. Bradley, head of the Amateur Department of the service, announced that a program for the hot Summer months would begin in the near future. Yesterday's bill was the seventy-sixth Sunday matinee given by the War Camp Community Service, marking the close of an unbroken run of a year and a half.

N. Y. U. TO HONOR VETERANS

Alumni and Students Who Served to be Guests at Celebration.

Alumni and students of the schools of New York University who have returned from service in the war, will be the guests of honor at the Alumni Day celebration at University Heights, Saturday. The occasion will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of University Heights.

The day's events will start at 10 o'clock in the morning with the annual meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa Society at the Faculty Club, Stevenson Hall. At 11 o'clock, the Founders' Day exercises will be held in the University Auditorium. Dr. John J. Stevenson, '03, will discuss "Personal Reminiscence of the University," and Lieut. Col. John J. Moorhead, '04, will address the assembly. College songs will be sung by the university choir, directed by William L. Wright, '15. From 12:15 to 1:30 o'clock luncheon will be served at the Y. M. C. A. on the campus.

In the afternoon the annual meeting of the Alumni Association will be held in the Y. M. C. A. but. There will be a roll call of classes, with speeches limited to three minutes each from representatives of the classes of '09, '05, '84, '59, '64, '09, '04, '14, and '19. Those who have returned from military or naval service will assemble in the auditorium at 2:40 o'clock. The alumni and faculty will escort them to the grandstand on Ohio Field. The procession will pass between lines of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Captain Henry Cook Hathaway, U. S. A., will be the Grand Marshal. Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown will deliver an address of welcome to the returned veterans. In case of rain, the events will be held in the auditorium.

Fire in Church During Mass.

Fire in the sanctuary of the Church of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel at 187th Street and Belmont Avenue, the Bronx, was extinguished during high mass yesterday morning by firemen, who entered the building from the rear. The blaze was confined to the sanctuary and spread to the interior of the church. Father Joseph Cafuzzi, who was celebrating mass, succeeded with the services uninterrupted. The flames are supposed to have been caused by an altar boy, who is said to have struck a match too close to an acetylene tank used to illuminate the altar. The church is situated in the Italian district of Fordham.

FINISH A SECTION OF BRONX RIVER DRIVE

Commission Reports Good Progress on the 15-Mile Parkway Despite the War.

AIM TO BEAUTIFY VALLEY

Emphasize the Need for Continuing Task—Dredge and Rid Park Stream of Pollution.

War-time progress in the building of the Bronx River Parkway is recounted in the report of the Bronx Parkway Commission for 1918, which was made public yesterday. The Parkway, when completed, will extend fifteen miles northward along the Bronx River from the Botanical Gardens in Bronx Park to Kensico Dam, where it will connect with the principal highways of the State. The work has now progressed to the point where it is no longer a financial burden for the principal part has been accomplished, notably the acquiring and paying for the large amount of land along the route that was necessary in order that the beauty of the surrounding country be preserved as well as to allow the highway to be pushed forward. In view of this fact the Commission is of the opinion that the improvement as planned should be steadily proceeded with.

The report stated that a short section of the parkway drive immediately north of Bronx Park had been completed. At Bronxville, a section just west of the river has been graded. Another stretch of driveway, from Scarsdale to White Plains has also been graded. The drive was planned not only to accommodate the large volume of traffic that will flow in and out of New York City, but also to display the principal features of the Valley. The work on the reservation thus far has been largely for the purpose of reclamation and restoration to natural conditions. But the commission's report showed that much river dredging, grading, planting, and construction has been done. During 1918 construction and development work was governed by war conditions, and engineering, clerical, and laboring forces were reduced to skeleton organization. Many of the employees entered either civilian or military branches of the Government service, but the report showed that notwithstanding this serious disruption, it was able, at small expense, to maintain the property and conserve the improvements already made.

When You Fly to Your Work

Where will our airplanes land when we shall all fly to our offices from the country? The POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY for June shows you the city-landing-roof of the future—the circular high-bank track mounted on stilts above office buildings. It is one of hundreds of new inventions in the June issue.

Do You Know how to make your own ice at home—what to do with an old car—how airplanes can be thrown from slings—how to construct thermometers for the blind—how ships can be driven with gas instead of by steam or oil—what holds the stars together—the new inventions for saving sunken treasure—what's new in tools and machinery?

The June number is packed with new ideas for improving the automobile, for doing jobs in a simpler way. 300 new ideas—300 vivid pictures.

THE UNDYING FIRE

H. G. Wells' New Novel

"THE UNDYING FIRE," coming at this hour, is probably Wells' greatest public service as well as one of his finest books . . . to be read and pondered and reread and argued over . . . it will reach tens of thousands." —N. THE UNDYING FIRE

"A Novel for Tens of Thousands of Readers"

At All Bookstores. $1.50.
THE MACMILLAN COMPANY, Publishers, NEW YORK

A MAN CAN FISH all day in the broiling sun and come home feeling fine and fit if his underwear has kept him comfortable.

Gibbs SPLIT-BELT UNION SUIT

$1 50 means hot weather comfort—whatever you do—because it's thin, airy, cool.

The "split" belt gives more than ample seat opening yet closes tightly, snugly and without binding, pinching or bunchiness to cause discomfort. Gibbs Split-Belt Union Suit is elastic. Muscular exertion therefore doesn't strain the garment or cause it to uncomfortably grip the muscles. Made of fine, soft cotton interloped, forming a thin, porous garment. Because it is cellular in construction and not a tight weave like muslin or nainsook, it gives far greater comfort than either of these. Gibbs Split-Belt Union Suit is made to fit but fit loosely. As carefully made as a tailored suit. Low neck, short sleeves, knee length.

Too Late for the May Issue— Not too Early for the October Issue

JUST the other day a prospective advertiser, who found it was too late to insert his full page advertisement in the May issue of the "most used and most useful book in New York" called up and said, "But can't you print it on a separate sheet and paste it into each book later?"

It was impracticable, of course, considering the 1,110,000 circulation, but it was a mighty good illustration of the average advertiser's idea of the value of New York City Telephone Directory Advertising.

The point is this—quite a few prospective advertisers waited until too late to get their copy into the May issue so we are taking time by the forelock and suggesting that advertising arrangements for the October issue be made NOW.

The October issue will stay on-the-job alongside New York City telephones until it is replaced some time in February 1920. It will be consulted, according to conservative estimates, 3,000,000 times each day, and it will provide the same unusual publicity service that is bringing business today to hundreds of telephone directory advertisers, and that is causing these advertisers to renew their advertising issue after issue.

Telephone directory advertising should be of value to you. Why not turn to your telephone now and ask for particulars?

Incomparable

There is nothing in the newspaper world to be compared with the Sunday edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES—in quality of news—in pictorial features—in circulation—in advertising.

Its sale, in excess of 500,000 copies, gives to it one of the greatest Sunday circulations of any newspaper in the world. In five months of this year the Sunday edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES excelled every other New York Sunday newspaper in volume of advertising.

He Took the Prince of Wales' Dancing Partner Away From Him

His Royal Highness went to Coblenz to a Saturday Evening dance, picked the prettiest girl in the room and danced with her. A young second lieutenant "cut in" and took the Prince's partner away from him.

But the Prince got her back. "Serves you right, sir," said the Prince. It is all told in a full-page, full-color painting in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL showing the laughing Prince and the lieutenant taking his pretty partner away from him.

28 Men Sat in a Room

And the idea that they started there, is one that touches every man and woman who has a home. It is an actual solution of the high-price problem. It solves the high cost of living and is possible to every family in every community. It is not a dream. Millions of heads of families are already members of the plan. Buy the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL, read the article "The Idea That 28 Men Started."

Just Try to Believe This

That when Mr. Hoover said bread would have to sell for so much a loaf, a bakery telegraphed him that if it had to sell bread at that high price it would make so much money it wouldn't know what to do with the profits. And read what the bakery did! It is in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

Talk About a Detective Story!

Here is one: where the Secret Service was asked by London to find a woman whose name they didn't know; nor in what city she was, nor what she looked like. "Yet," said London, "you must get her." And the detectives did! Step by step this astonishing and actual piece of detective work is told about in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

The 16-Year Boy Who Shot 30 Huns

The most marvelous "kid" of the war: the boy who is coming out of it as one of its greatest heroes. "Scotty" was his name and 30 Huns, in succession, dropped before the marvelous accuracy of his machine gun. And now in a beautiful painting the boy's memory is forever preserved. It shows Scotty with his arms around his beloved gun, just as they found him, shot by a sniper. It is a wonderful war painting: one of 6 full color paintings in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

Is Worth 15 Cents to You

It will tell you how thousands of women are actually solving the high cost of living problem. No theory. No guesswork. A practical idea that promises to sweep the country. Read the article "The Idea that 28 Men Started."

Would You Like Elsie Ferguson to Select Your Dress For You?

She will for she has. She selects the 14 prettiest of all the summer dresses she has seen in the New York shops and gives a picture of each in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. Thus can you have one of the best-dressed women on the stage choose your dress for you. Miss Ferguson's taste in dressing is impeccable.

A Village With Not a Man in It

A remarkable story of an English village that shows how deep the war went. A pen-picture that takes you into the very heart of English life where in a community, although there is not a man left, the women "live greatly: the village has grown and the once narrow highway has widened into a world." The war has not produced a more vivid picture than this story of an actual English hamlet in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

When Pope Benedict Greeted President Wilson

A Popular Actress Who Went to College Daytimes and Acted Evenings

"It sounds easy," she says. "But it wasn't. For two years she did it. It was the first step toward her present success as one of the most popular actresses on the modern stage. It is an unusual glimpse into the inner life of an actress' career that we get here: not the ordinary kind by any means. It is in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

The Lord's Prayer 5 Times on a 10-Cent Piece

Can you imagine doing it? One man has, and there's a picture of the piece of paper the size of a dime in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

Buying a $15,000 Farm for $1500

That's all, and the municipality backs you for the rest. An expert farmer guides you as to what to grow and how to take care of your land. Your house is built for you by an expert architect. Electricity, running water, sewer—all are yours. It sounds like a dream. But it isn't. It is actually being done and is practical in any country. It is the new plan—the new way to buy a farm. The whole story is told in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

The College Graduate's New View of Home

She has it. What is it? It is entirely different from that of her mother. She is the new-fashioned housekeeper, is this girl who comes out of the college this month. She tells what she is and what her new views are in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

The Greatest Peace Conference in the History of the World

You have often wondered what the conference looks like. Here you can actually see it exactly as it looked in a full-page painting showing the famous Clock Hall in Paris, the President of the United States speaking; with Clemenceau, the French Premier; and Lloyd George and the entire Conference listening intently to the President's words. It is a souvenir painting to treasure. Thousands will be framed. It is one of 6 colored paintings in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

A Girl on a 5th Avenue Bus Had a Cough

She sat down next to an aviator. The girl coughed and rasped and gasped. The "ace" stood it as long as he could, and then applied his cure. And it wasn't medical either. "Brutal," said the girl. "Climb down," said the ace. And you're in the midst of one of nine splendid stories in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. Two illustrated in full color too: beautiful pictures.

We Must Know the World Woman Today

A woman has just traveled half round the world and gives you a picture of women that will surprise you. It shatters many a notion; upsets many a theory. You think you know women until you read "The World Woman." It is in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

The 100 Heroes

The Secretary of War Asked General Pershing To Select the War's 100 Heroes

He called his Board of Generals together, and 100 outstanding acts of heroism by the boys in the American forces were carefully picked out. The list was then sent to the War Department.

The Government authorities in charge have now given to the editor of THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL the exclusive magazine right to present to the American public this splendid roll of honor in its complete form.

The heroic deed of each soldier, his name, rank and organization, and, so far as obtainable, a portrait, are given in this assembly of flaming deeds which make the blood tingle as one reads of them.

The first installment of the roll of honor is given in the JUNE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL: 15 cents everywhere.

A New Way of Shopping

The war has brought it about. It has happened: it is upon us and we hardly know it. But every woman should. Do you know about it? Read "The Ideas of a Foreseeing Woman" in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

There are New Bridal Cakes

Entirely different from those that we have known before. They are pictured in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

A French Girl and a Borrowed Son

When the world loaned its sons to France, the Frenchwoman said, "I will protect," while they, the homesick lads, oft sorely tempted, kept strong the faith in fact, though slippery the path. One such story of "A Borrowed Son," that charms and holds, is in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

Can You Write 500 Words on a Postal Card?

It isn't easy. Now think of writing over 3000 words. And then 4700 words! And then, most amazing of all, 12,191 words on one postal, written with the naked eye and a pencil, too. All three postals are in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

As Buffalo Bill's Bride—Where?

The wife of the great Western scout tells, in her autobiography, of her strange honeymoon in the Far West; of her first sleepless night on the plains, waiting for dawn; her first experiences in a frontier saloon and her first baptism of fire. So thrilling a romance could not be told by any other woman. It is in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

Carpets of Flowers Near the North Pole

It is almost unbelievable. Thousands and thousands of acres of buttercups, heather, bluebells, rhododendrons: flowers, flowers everywhere; literally carpets of them, with pigeons and trout and birds by the thousands, and all 12 degrees from the North Pole, in the most northern village in the world. It is hard to believe, but here are the photographs and the facts to prove it in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. And not a single flower has an odor!

How Can I Start a Community Kitchen?

Scores are asking this all over the country. For the community kitchen is beginning. Two home demonstration agents tell it in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. Here is told the simplest way of starting one; 3 or 4 families as a beginning. Two home demonstration agents tell it in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

When One Woman Says Another Woman is "a Cat"

Every other woman seems to know what she means. Some men think they do, too, but they are wrong. It is too deep for the masculine mind, unless it gets the idea from a clever story of "The Cat That Got the Bird," which explains what it all means. But will women agree with what the story discloses? Read it in the June LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. It is one of nine delicious bits of romance: all in one number.

AMERICAN SHIPS FOR AMERICAN GOODS.

Speaking on Memorial Day at Hog Island, where five 7,800-ton cargo ships were launched in 48 minutes 15 seconds, Secretary DANIELS said that never again would the United States be guilty of the folly of trusting its foreign commerce to foreign boats.

We will not quit the shipbuilding industry. We will put it on a solid and firm and sound basis. We will build big ships and bigger ships.

These are admirable sentiments, and if what Mr. DANIELS declared would be done is not done it will be because the American people, through their representatives in Congress, are not practical and wise enough to spend the money necessary to maintain the American merchant marine on the scale planned by the Government.

The American merchant marine must be in a position to compete successfully with its rivals, and it can be established in that position only by legislation very different from the law-making of the pre-war period.

It may be necessary to recast shipping legislation on practicable lines. The American people must not shrink from overruling precedent, and traditions may have to be modified.

WEST SIDE ROUTE TO BROOKLYN. The complaints to the Public Service Commission that the west side route through Manhattan to Brooklyn is so operated as to cause inconvenience in making connections with the Long Island Railroad at the Flatbush station have more to support them than that.

and collisions between local and express trains would be serious. There is an obscenity as to why trains are run express to South Ferry for the traffic in the South Ferry trains is small, and the Brooklyn trains are crowded.

CANADA'S PROBLEM. In form it is a strike that is on in Canada. In intent it is revolution. The Government is inactive and powerless.

Yet nothing is done in any of these strikes except by permission of the local Strike Committee. In Winnipeg the milk and bread wagons run by such a permit.

Our own laws may be different from those of Canada. Certainly the sanctity of the mails would not be interfered with without civil war.

RAILWAY WAGES AND PROFITS. The Director General is asking Congress for $1,200,000,000 of tax money on account of the deficit in railway operation under Government management.

My own judgment is that, however this general railroad question shall be solved by the Congress, there will be a solution which will make sure in the future that the profits earned by the railroads will be so regulated as to prevent any undue share of the profits going to the owners of railroad securities.

That is easy. The mere making-up of the accounts can assure that there shall be no profits, undue or otherwise, either for the companies or for the Government, and that the only "dividends" shall be levies upon the taxpayers.

lated the railways could impose their own terms. It is undesirable to regulate profits, beyond what follows from the regulation of rates, because capital avoids any industry in which profits are unsatisfactory to the owners of free capital.

LONDON PRAETORIANS. New Yorkers disturbed by fears of lowered morale in their own police force may at least be glad that they do not live in London.

The Praetorian Guard in Rome often controlled the choice of an Emperor, and at least once openly auctioned the throne to the highest bidder.

PUBLIC OPINION ON GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP. If the opinions of several thousand newspapers are in considerable degree an indication of the public wish and thought, then we are headed away from that form of socialism which prefers Government ownership and operation to private operation and capitalism.

ART AND COURAGE. Mr. JOSEPH PENNELL is justifiably concerned about the terrible conditions in Philadelphia. "A crime against the United States, its history and its art" has been perpetrated.

Whether or not Hawkeye, as he now says, is a little Carelessly, reported his comment on the flight of the American seaplane—that is a question of no great consequence.

A PHILADELPHIA EXPERIMENT. Law, calling her sister Science to her aid, thereby continues to make the innocence of 2% per cent. beer look milkier and more angelic.

ment of knowledge, to subject themselves to the perilous test of swallowing as much 2% per cent. beer as they could contain.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES. Dropping from demonstrations in Airplanes. In Parachutes. What can be done by and for aviators were those revealing the practicability of descending from airplanes by means of parachutes.

All Wanted officers—possibly more to seem Originators. But one man, even if he is not a paragon, can do more than a dozen others.

This Plea Deserves Consideration. and has not presented all the arguments they offer to support their contention, there must be given one argument more.

SCHIEDMANN'S SOLILOQUY. To sign, or not to sign—that is the question. Whether 'tis wiser with submissive mien To bend the neck beneath the hateful yoke.

Whether or not Hawkeye, as he now says, is a little Carelessly, reported his comment on the flight of the American seaplane—that is a question of no great consequence.

notice of his demise; as for his namesake WALT, he has got along so far without the Hall of Fame, and no doubt he will continue to be remembered even though some enthusiastic mistook his bust for that of the fallen chief of the Drys.

DEVASTATED FRANCE. Can It Be Brought Under Cultivation Again in a Year? Professor Allan A. Young's statement at Ithaca, reported in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Saturday, May 31, that "the areas of devastated France which cannot be brought into cultivation within a year or so are exceedingly small," is, perhaps, the most irresponsible expression of opinion I have yet read or heard of in respect to the war zone of the western front, and needs prompt and emphatic contradiction.

Take, for example, the Vimy Ridge battlefield, perhaps the most terrible spectacle not only in France but in the entire world, with its 500 cemeteries and 250,000 dead. The Ridge itself, a by no means inconceivable stretch of country averaging perhaps from 500 to 600 feet in height, is battered in battle debris.

Commissioner Howe. Mr. Howe's letter in your issue of May 27 as to the activities of Immigration Commissioner Frederic C. Howe is timely. Why should a Federal officer, and one of the side at a Bolshevik meeting, especially at a meeting where, according to the newspaper reports, the man who appointed him was "vigorously" hissed?

The Church and the Soldiers. To the Editor of The New York Times: Just a few lines in appreciation of the way several churches in New York City treat their soldiers and sailors.

Whether or not Hawkeye, as he now says, is a little Carelessly, reported his comment on the flight of the American seaplane—that is a question of no great consequence.

FRIENDS OF GERMAN. Expect to See It Return to Its Place in the Schools. Your readers may be interested in knowing the reaction of some teachers of German in my letter published in THE TIMES in which I advocated the abolition of all instruction in German in schools supported by public funds.

Latest Central Park Scheme. To the Editor of The New York Times: So now it is to be a bathtub! "Wading Lagoon" of course sounds picturesque, but why not out with the real weeds for it?

Book Famine in Russia. There is a terrible book famine in Russia. Men, women, and children—children in particular—are suffering from a lack of books. Only that, millions of children all over the immense country, about twice as large as our own, cannot learn to read and write and cipher simply because there are no books.

Presidential Electors. The letter of Mr. C. W. C. Catt in your issue of yesterday does not fairly meet the point that the bills conferring upon women the right to vote for Presidential Electors passed by the Legislatures of the various States during the two or three years are clearly unconstitutional and illegal.

A Prix de Rome for Americans. To the Editor of The New York Times: Recently an article appeared in THE TIMES in which it was suggested that a Prix de Rome for American composers will be established.

Literary Evidence. In substantiation of the fact mentioned in your issue of May 27, I have written for you when he lived in the Brennan House about Eighty-fourth Street and Broadway, allow me to relate an incident that happened to me about 1884.

Australians Praise Read. To the Editor of The New York Times: As an Australian traveling through New York and one who has been shown much kindness, it behoves me to say how very disgusted we are with Hawkeye, if he was correctly reported, with regard to his utterance of the words "the American people won't take it as a concession of Australian opinion."

THE COVENANTER. The Assembly in the Plan of the League of Nations. By William H. Taft, George W. Vickersham, A. Lawrence Lowell, and Henry W. Taft. The Assembly is the larger organ of the League, the one in which all the members are represented by three delegates apiece if they please, so that if all the forty-five countries named in the annex to the Covenant should send their full complement of three, the Assembly would fill 135 seats.

Actual Functions Limited. The Assembly will, indeed, probably attract more popular attention than any other organ of the League; and yet its actual functions, which are to be found scattered through various articles of the Covenant, are extremely limited. Besides regulating its own affairs and appointing its committees, it is authorized to select the four smaller States to be represented on the council, to approve enlargements of the council, to confirm the selection of the Secretary General, to report upon disputes between nations referred to the council or by either of the disputants, and to receive and consider proposals of members of the League of Nations that have become inapplicable and the consideration of international conditions endangering the peace of the world, and by a two-thirds vote to admit new members to the League.

Importance of Discussion. In view of the other specific provisions of the covenant the intention of the clause is perfectly clear. It is that the Assembly be authorized, not to decide, but to discuss, all matters within the sphere of action of the League or that affect the peace of the world. In this it is the successor to the conferences at The Hague. Save for its very limited authority expressly vested in it the function of the Assembly is discussion, and that is any nation, however small, can bring its grievances and its aspirations before a general body of representatives gathered from all the free, orderly, and civilized peoples of the earth in a fertile means of creating and expressing public opinion on international questions which has been heralded as one of the chief objects of a League.

An Inquest of the World. Disraeli once said that Parliament was the great inquest of the nation. The Assembly of the League may well be deemed the great inquest of the world. The body where plans for the betterment of mankind are advocated, and where codes of international law are prepared and debated.

It may be observed that although each member of the League is entitled to send three representatives to the assembly the voting is by States. States, however, have desired a great deal more than that. The organization of the modern world is built upon nationality, and whatever a remote future may bring forth, at present peace and order, justice, progress, and liberty must be based upon a concert of free nations.

There is no quibbling about this. It is the plain meaning of the language of the law. The various Legislatures have voluntarily placed beyond their own jurisdiction the power to pass Presidential Elector bills, conferring a special privilege upon women, with first submitting to the electorates of the States an amendment to the State Constitution which effect.

With subtle ingenuity to depict The starving millions in the Fatherland, The weak and old, the helpless innocents. Perchance the starting tear might play its part. Hastily concealed—yet not too hastily: A passing mention of blockades, a hint of counterpayments and indemnities. Yes, verily, methinks the bluff might serve.

The Shopping Center of McCall Street

Suppose all the housewives of Euclid Avenue, in Cleveland; of Sheridan Road, in Chicago; of Beacon Street, in Boston; of Pacific Avenue, in San Francisco, were to go shopping together some morning.

It would be a remarkable assemblage of shoppers—a hundred thousand, perhaps. But it would be only a handful, compared with the women who buy in the Shopping Center of McCall Street! For McCall Street has 1,300,000 homes—the homes of the 1,300,000 families who read McCall's Magazine every month. When the women folks of McCall Street go shopping, they spend, not thousands, nor hundreds of thousands, but MILLIONS of dollars a day!

MCCALL'S MAGAZINE

And, just as McCall styles and the McCall Patterns are the fashion guide of the women folks of McCall Street, so is McCall's Magazine their shopping guide.

Buy a copy of McCall's for June—out today—price ten cents. Its exceptional fiction, its authoritative fashions, its special articles of vital interest to every woman, will at once reveal to you why the wives, mothers and daughters of 1,300,000 American families read McCall's Magazine, and buy in the Shopping Center of McCall Street.

PORES BREAKS TWO LONG-STANDING AMERICAN RECORDS

AMERICAN RECORDS ARE SET BY PORES

Champion Clips Nearly Two Minutes from Long-Standing Mark for Fifteen Miles.

BEATS HOUR'S RUN FIGURES

Exceeds Performance of Thomas in 1889 by Over 300 Yards—Lichman Wins Pentathlon.

Charles Pores, the sturdy little Milwaukee native runner, performed the most notable feat of his career this afternoon at Macomb track when in an especially arduous race he created two new American records, and slashed the recorded mark for three other distances which are recognized as eligible for record standards by the Amateur Athletic Union.

The little national five and ten mile running champion erased the fifteen mile mark which has been on the A. A. U. books credited to Jim Crowley since 1889 when the Irish distance runner covered the distance in 1 hour 25 minutes 15 seconds. Pores bettered these figures by 1 minute 54.4 seconds yesterday, running fifteen miles on the upper quarter-mile track in 1 hour 23 minutes 24.4 seconds.

Three Unofficial Records. The marks for which Pores will not receive official sanction were those for twelve, thirteen, and fourteen miles. The Milwaukee A. A. star was clocked in 1:20:35.5 for twelve miles, 20 seconds faster than the time made by Pores nearly ten years ago, and which has since been unofficially recognized as a record.

AMHERST WINS N.C.A.A. TEST. Tops the List in Freshman Athletic Efficiency Competition. Amherst College has won the freshman athletic efficiency test, conducted this year for the first time, and which will hereafter be an annual event.

MAKES FACE ALMOST ALL THE WAY. For the first mile Pores showed the way to his rivals, finishing the fourth lap in 5:11 with Nick Giannakopoulos, the sturdy Greek runner, in second place and Kyronen third.

The most common reason why men cut themselves when they shave

SOME men cut themselves almost every time they shave.

Carelessness, you say. Yet you can, doubtless, remember many times when you have cut yourself in spite of the utmost care.

Neither does the trouble lie with the razor. The sharper the razor, the smoother the shave it will give you.

The fault is elsewhere. Your beard has not been properly softened. Your razor pulls, slips and you cut yourself before you know it.

that the lather can penetrate to the keratin to soften it.

The manicurist softens the keratin of the nails by soaking them for many minutes in warm water. Your shaving soap must accomplish the same result with the keratin of the beard almost instantly.

The right kind of a shave

If you cut yourself frequently, or if shaving is an uncomfortable, time-taking process, use the new Woodbury's Shaving Stick for tomorrow morning's shave. The creamy, thick-textured Woodbury lather dissolves the oil film almost instantly, and works quickly to soften the keratin. It will surprise you how quickly your beard is made ready for the razor.

From the first minute that the brush is applied you will experience a pleasurable sensation of lather comfort that you have never before enjoyed.

The after-effect on the skin will be a welcome surprise, for the face is left smooth and refreshed.

After your first purchase, it is entirely unnecessary to buy a container with each new stick. For that reason you will find that every drugist is ready to supply you with both the stick in the metal container at 35 cents and re-fill at 25 cents. MOVIES TO COACH OARSMEN

Were Used on the Seine at Paris, to Interest of the French.

American methods, introduced on the Seine at Paris, of coaching a rowing crew by use of moving pictures have been the subject of lively discussion among French athletes.

At the outset of their period of training for the International Rowing Regatta, held at Paris, the French club de France, the candidates for the American crew were directed along their course on the Seine by Coach Wiman, shouting through a megaphone protruding from the side of an ordinary flyover, which was mounted on a barge used in place of the ordinary shell in the recent rowing events at Paris.

Representative of America in the rowing regatta included Sergeant Collis J. Doo, Yale; Royal Bird, Cornell; Lieutenant and Howard McHenry, Yale; and Captain J. Brinkerhoff, Cornell. Lieutenant J. A. Ferrer, Harvard; Captain Harry Cabot, Washington; Captain Harry Cabot, Harvard; Lieutenant H. S. Brooks, Cornell; and Lieutenant Guy Gale, California.

Go to charming old New England. It's handy; it's different. It offers the gayest of summer life and a variety of sports and pleasures quite wholly its own. There are the wonderful New England seaside resorts from the Connecticut shore to Maine—Watch Hill, Narragansett Bay, Newport, Buzzard's Bay, Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard, Cape Cod, the North Shore, Old Orchard, Casco Bay, Rockland, Mt. Desert and a hundred other interesting beaches for everybody. Or the Berkshires and the White and Green Mountains for the golfer and automobilist. Or the lakes and woods of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont for the sportsman. Make your vacation pilgrimage to the world-famous places of historic and romantic interest—Plymouth Rock, Bunker Hill, Concord, Lexington—spots, with many others, dear to the hearts of every American from childhood—dearer today because of the inspiration they have been in our fight for Universal Freedom. AMERICA TO PICTURE LEADERS IN THE WAR

National Art Committee Is Formed and Artists Are Selected for Work Abroad.

HOPE TO ENLIST SARGENT Painting of the Peace Conference and of Individuals Eventually to Form Collection in Washington.

The formation of the National Art Committee, to arrange for the painting by American artists of portraits of military, civil and religious leaders in the war, was announced last night by Herbert Pratt, Secretary and Treasurer of the organization.

The American mission has endorsed the project, and the portraits, together with a group painting of the peace conference, are to be exhibited in several leading cities, according to the announcement. Later they will be placed in the care of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

Mr. De Camp is now in France at work on a painting of the peace conference. Mr. Johansen has had several sittings by Marshal Joffre. Mr. Volk has gone to Brussels to paint King Albert's portrait.

Portraitists proposed for the collection, according to Mr. Pratt's statement, include those of President Wilson, General Pershing, Admiral Sims, Premier Lloyd George, Field Marshal Haig, Admiral Beatty, Premier Clemenceau, Marshal Foch, Marshal Joffre, King Albert, and Cardinal Mercier.

Associated with Mr. White and Mr. Pratt on the committee are J. P. Morgan, Henry Frick, Robert W. de Forest, and Mrs. E. H. Harriman of New York; Mrs. W. H. Crocker of San Francisco; Guy Lowell of Boston; Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland; Arthur Meeker of Chicago; T. B. Walker of Minneapolis; and Charles T. Walcott of the Smithsonian Institution.

Taft Upholds Jews' Rights

Deplores Mistreatment in Poland, and Speaks for Homeland.

The Zionist Organization of America, 55 Fifth Avenue, gave out a statement yesterday in which ex-President Taft was quoted in regard to Poland and the Jews' share in the Peace Treaty, as saying:

We are not sufficiently informed concerning the portions in Poland, but the little information which we have is enough to arouse every honest man. I can assure you that I have talked concerning them and written about them. I even have a letter from Paderewski's secretary in Washington, filled with protest and reproach.

Persecution of the Jews is a serious crime of the nations. You undoubtedly know that when I was in the White House I broke off diplomatic relations with Russia because of its brutal treatment of the Jews.

THE SCREEN

In An Introductory subtitle, D. W. Griffith says that everything in his "True Heart Susie," at the Strand this week, has happened in real life.

By itself, however, this is not praise for "True Heart Susie," for a play may be a "true story" and still be valueless. Many "true stories" are uninteresting and many times literally real life as pictured on the screen does not seem real, and, of course, it is the seeming, rather than the being, that is important.

Were the originals of its characters human beings deserving life in moving pictures, and do they live as pictures, and do they have as pictures? These are "True Heart Susie," they are answered in the affirmative.

Susie is not perfect. A little worldly wisdom, without sophistication, would have saved her much suffering. She had a sharp eye for a sharp eye.

"The Man Who Turned White," with H. E. Warner in the leading role, began an indefinite run at the Broadway yesterday. It is a Wild East rather than a Wild West melodrama.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION
Crop-Moving Needs and Foreign Loans
Promise Large Demands on Credit Market.

Speculation for the rise of prices played a greater part in the market drama last week than in any similar period since the armistice went into effect. In cotton even more than in stocks, perhaps, was evidence supplied of efforts to discount later days of satisfactory business as well as current improvement in the manufacture and movement of goods. Also, news of the real estate field denoted an increasing turnover of trades in the leading cities, stimulated by the pressure of inadequate housing facilities in many sections of the country. The stock market made progress into new high grounds for the year, and among railroad, industrial and public utility bonds a buying movement occurred which eclipsed the volume of many recent weeks. It is now a month since bankers and brokers began to utter words of warning to overzealous traders—at least traders who were thought to be overzealous in their desire for profits—and in that month there has been recorded one of the busiest periods that the Stock Exchange ever experienced. No full business day brought a total of dealings in stocks of less than 1,000,000 shares, and in one session the 2,000,000-share point was almost reached. While conservative leaders of the market place were disposed to preach caution, the speculative pace gathered fresh strength. While the situation at Paris was approaching the most critical phase in respect to the peace treaty, the markets were acting as though the German acceptance of the prescribed terms was a foregone conclusion. To a greater degree than before, sentiment about the future of American industry and trade either brushed aside consideration of things uncertain and unfavorable or stepped quickly past them in its forward stride.

A recitation of factors working to support the speculative movement would merely comprise those which have been mentioned so often as to be familiar to all. The grain crop prospects, the export trade figures, the slowly expanding demand for steel and the recovery of the copper market, the quickened distribution of textiles, the depletion of materials stocks in various lines and the prospect of their replacement at higher prices, and the relative ease and adequate supply of money—these have been credited by market observers as the basic influence in the current advance of securities. The trend of prices has been so persistently upward, without even the offsetting item of an occasional reaction of substantial extent, that it would seem as though stock market participants were deliberately ignoring the possibility of adverse developments which hover over the edge of the financial horizon. Taking the money supply as one, call loan rates fluctuated generally between 4 and 5 per cent, with an occasional reaction of substantial extent, that it would seem as though stock market participants were deliberately ignoring the possibility of adverse developments which hover over the edge of the financial horizon.

sign trade corporation, of whose $1,000,000 the Government shall subscribe $250,000,000. He would have the banks take a similar amount and the public provide the balance. The Senator's purpose, and he has the support of a number of exporters and manufacturers, is to stimulate outward shipments by helping the foreign buyer to finance his purchases. The project would be aided, he holds, if the Government lent its material support. To this Secretary of the Treasury (Glavin) objects, principally because of the country's trade. This attitude by the head of the Treasury is more far-reaching and significant than its application to the foreign trade organization. It would seem to supply encouragement to bankers who originally planned to undertake the distribution of foreign securities and afterward were thrown into some doubt of the freedom they would have if the Government sought to assist. On the other hand, the Secretary's position is hardly of a sort to lend hope to holders of the $50,000,000 Russian 6 1/2 per cent bonds, floated in this country early in the war period, that the Treasury might inter-vent to protect them by maintaining in a way similar to the measures taken by the British Government to insure owners of Russian bonds in Britain against loss. The issue falls due June 19 and sufficient funds to meet it are not believed to be available.
